

Agreement on the Rights to Written Works and Artifacts at the Department of Business Administration, University of Zurich

According to current legislation, the copyright of written works and any artifacts produced during academic endeavors remains with the student.

However, as these works are developed under the direct guidance of mentoring teaching and research assistants, and professors, incorporating their ideas and utilizing departmental resources significantly, the student must grant the Department of Business Administration the rights of use to such works.

I,
hereby consent and grant the University of Zurich, represented by the Department of Business Administration, the irrevocable, non-exclusive, transferable, and sub-licensable rights of use, free of charge, to my written work and all artifacts under copyright protection created in the context of my academic work. Furthermore, I agree to allow the Department of Business Administration to publish my work in its entirety or in part on the Internet and distribute printed versions to interested parties..

Zurich,
